In Something New Under the Sun: An Environmental History of the Twentieth-Century World, John R.

McNeill sets out to demonstrate that there is, indeed, something new under the sun today, because "the place of humankind within the natural world is not what it was."

In his startling new book, J. R. McNeill gives us our first general account of what may prove to be the most significant dimension of the twentieth century:
its environmental history.
To a degree unprecedented in human history, we have refashioned the earth's air, water, and soil, and the biosphere of which we are a part.
